“ Irvin and Fred grew up together in WV and were more like brothers than Uncle & Nephew. One memory of Irvin was when he kept trying to convince me to at least sit on a motorcycle, which I was terrified to do. I can still hear his laughter about that.

But, by far my fondest memory was Irv sitting on the bed when Fred first got sick, and Fred giving him his prized possession - a gun that belonged to Charlie. I had to leave the room.

Leo Buscaglia said it best: "I know for certain we never lose the people we love. They continue to participate in every act, thought, and decision we make. Their love leaves an indelible imprint in our memories. We find comfort in knowing that our lives have been enriched by having shared their love."

My deepest sympathy to Irv's huge family. Rest in peace my friend.

Love,
Pat Mayle
