“ Pete was a wonderful man - always upbeat and said the key to happiness is having good people surround you. I cannot believe he is gone. He will be greatly missed and never forgotten.

“ John and Pete were always my go to guy's when they owned the gas station and did all the service on my auto's. I needed my auto to get to my job and one morning at 5 A.M. my car wouldn't start so I called and got Pete out of bed to come and help me. Well it turned out that my car had to be in park or neutral or the car would not start and I had turned the key off and left it in drive. Pete got in the car and it started for him, I asked, " what do I owe you?" he smiled and said , "have a good day, no charge." A few days later we went through the same dance, again Pete, with a smile on his face, again said, " no charge,: A week or so later, it happened again, this time he started the car turned to me before I could say anything without that beautiful smile and said, No charge BUT, if you get me out of bed again at 5 A.M. the charge will be $100. and a possible broken neck. I took him seriously until I looked him in the eye and that twinkle was still there.

Connie White, At the time this happened, I was Connie Fowler. Rest in peace Pete.
