“ I could not have asked for a better grandfather. He was easygoing, had a great sense of humor, and was very smart. His sense of humor was out of this world and is something to admire him for. Some fond memories I wanted to list are pleasant memories of lunch down by the river in Port Huron and watching the boats go by, Christmas times in Lexington, his mechanical knowledge and advice about various things such teaching me about how to take care of my car, his stories about building the house and his neighboring houses, designing the add on to his church, and the addition to the Sandusky courthouse, going to the Sanilac County Fair, his very cautious driving and telling us to “weave back and forth, honk my horn, and flash my brights on the home” to be visible to fellow motorists, his love of bluegrass, country, and polka music, going to the Lexington beach, the classic car showcase at A&W, stories of his military service, his love of animals especially dogs, and his massive collection of tools. Also he had a big sweet tooth. He enjoyed those cocoa crispies with brown sugar and raspberries.

“ I was so sorry to hear about Al. When he worked for the County as Building Inspector I worked in the office next door at the Prosecutors office. He was such a kind man, always smiling and a lot fun. Everyone liked Al. Thinking of all of his family and friends with deepest sympathy.
