“ I remember his energy...his knack for finding adventure in our youth...his outward personality always getting him in trouble...but his heart was always in the right place, he was a unique person to say the least...I'm glad he was able to start seeing life for all it's beauty before his unfortunate passing...I will miss not seeing him and that goofy smile...that little chuckle he'd let out...I'll never see how far he could have taken his life...I will miss you my friend.
