

Lenora A. Osborn

September 16, 1915 - April 23, 2014

APPLEGATE: Lenora Agnes Osborn, 98, of Applegate, passed away peacefully on Wednesday, April 23, 2014 in Port Huron Hospital. She was the daughter of James and Agnes (Franklin) Lane, born on September 16, 1915 in Port Huron. On June 6, 1942, she married Milton J. Osborn of Applegate. He predeceased her on April 20, 2001. She graduated from Port Huron High School in 1933. Following graduation she worked at Newberry's Dime Store in Port Huron and later at the Chrysler plant in Marysville. She spent her married years as a stay-at-home Mom and homemaker. Lenora was known as a great cook and baker who often entertained unexpected company on the weekends. She was a skilled seamstress and spent many years as a 4-H sewing leader with many of her students earning top awards, and for years she belonged to a local quilting club. She loved bowling, playing euchre, working puzzles, and reading. She seldom missed watching a Tiger baseball game or the Piston's. She is survived by children Melanie (Lee) Masters, of Goodells, James (Carol) Osborn, of Applegate, Lorraine (Gordon) Fisher, of Ruby, and John (Teresa) Osborn, of Yale. Seven grandchildren, ten great-grandchildren, one great-great-grandchild, and her sister June Hitchings. She was predeceased by grandson Reed James Osborn, brothers Howard, Robert, George, Alvin, and Harold Lane, and a sister Mary Irene Miller. Mrs. Osborn will lie in state at Pomeroy Funeral Home in Crosswell, with funeral services at 2:30 PM on Saturday, April 26, 2014. The Reverend William McBride of North Street United Methodist Church will officiate. Visitation will be held Friday 2- 9

PM and Saturday from 1:30 PM until the time of the service. Burial will be in Washington Township Cemetery, Carsonville. Memorials are suggested to the Applegate Fire Department.
