“ I am just learning of his death I am so sorry I missed honoring him He was my History teacher in 1964 He opened my eyes to the wider world. He helped me through President Kennedy's death. He was the inspiration to do something positive in the world. I joined VISTA because of his influence. Now the govt is stripping away the Dept of Education. So many teachers won't have the resources they need to lead our young people. Thinking of you now Mr Regan

“ I was so sorry to read this post. Tom was my history teacher at Cros-Lex high school. I can still remember some of his lectures, and how excited he would get, waving his hands all over the place. I ended up teaching US history and government in Houghton Lake, and I, too, wave my hands all over the place I must've picked it up from him wonderful wonderful teacher! Please accept my condolences. “ I am so sorry to hear of your loss. Our thoughts and prayers are with you and your family. The Bruce William Brown Family: Joyce Brown Essex, Terry James Brown , Janet Lee (Brown) Gaito and our mother, Shirley E Brown. Tom and I were connecting again to begin our return to some family history. I was so happy to see him and Nancy this last August. It was a very brief visit, but Tom was excited I had some family history printed to get him started again. Rest in Peace Tom.

“ I was very shy when I was in Mr. Regan's class. He would mark things wrong on my tests to make me speak up in class. If I didn't speak up, he wouldn't fix the "error". He was intimidating at first, but I quickly discovered the twinkle in his eyes. He was a big teddy bear. I am looking forward to getting that hug that I always wanted from him when I get to heaven. He was one of my most influential teachers. I love history and historical novels because of him. Thank you, Mr. Regan, for all of the lives that you touched for so many years!

“For one million dollars and the rest of the day off...!” I can still hear Mr. Regan making that bet to the class. Not sure anyone ever cashed in - at least not the $1 million part of the bet - but I'll always have fond memories of one of my favorite high school teachers. He always made learning fun! To the Regan family - and especially Jeff & Linda - may you be comforted knowing that Tom is now at peace - safely home in the arms of the angels.

“Like many CL students, Tom was my favorite teacher. Whether in his government class, or on the golf course, or in his car on the way to a cross-country meet, whenever you were in his presence you felt somehow more confident, comfortable, self-assured. He had a way to boost you up when you needed it and, with his quick wit, put you in your place when you got too big for your britches. What Tom had—and what all great teachers have—is the ability to connect with students on a personal level. And it was a real connection. I hadn't seen him for decades, but when we met a few years ago, he knew my name and recalled stories about me that even I had forgotten. He did that with hundreds of us. A truly remarkable man. --Gary DeCoker ('67)

Mr. Regan was one of my favorite teachers when I was a kid, and one of my favorite people now as an adult. I will miss talking history and genealogy with him. I will miss being able to come to him with questions (always a teacher). I will also miss his wit and humor.

“ I had the good fortune to spend a few hours with him last Fall. I was invited to his home and we talked about my family's history in this area, my grandma's cottage in Lexington Heights that she bought in 1936, the motel we owned, and the Lex Hi Store. We talked and talked about so many people that he and I both knew. It was like going through an old photo album from my childhood. He would bring up a name and I would remember knowing them, or rather, my parents knowing them. We talked and laughed and had a wonderful time. He was fascinated by stories of my Grandpa Jack who came to the U.S. from Sicily in 1905. It's a memory that I will cherish forever. R.I.P. old friend. Thank you for introducing me to the writings of James Thurber. I look forward to seeing you again and continuing our talk...

“ I want to take a moment to share with all the family/friends/relatives a few thoughts about Mr. Regan. I always had a hard time calling him Tom, since I had been one of his students when I graduated from Cros-Lex in 1964. When I came back to teach at Cros-Lex after the first few years there, they moved me to the south side of the building or what was referred to as the Social Studies/English wing. I had the privilege of having my room directly across from his. I really got to know him as a person, especially after both of our kids graduated, since we would be the first two people to arrive in the morning. You could never beat him there no matter how early you arrived. One of the things that always amazed me and many others is that you could bring someone's name up that had graduated from Cros-Lex and he could give you the year they graduated most times. I will forever, cherish my memories of knowing him, being in his class, and being part of the staff with him.

“ Tom was one of my favorite teachers. He always inspired with his way of making History a living thing, something that few teachers accomplish. He was a great role model for all his students , always a guy to look up to. We were all so blessed to have him as a teacher, a mentor and a friend. He will be missed but never forgotten. Thank you sir for the good work you did, for the inspiration you were to all of us. Your's was a life well lived. Rest in peace.

“ When I was a Senior in highschool Mr. Regan had invited me and my boyfriend over for breakfast. He always had an open invitation for breakfast. It just so happened that the night before it was my senior all night party and right after breakfast was our State Track meet. On the way to my track meet we had to stop the bus because I became suddenly ill. Poor Mr. Regan got blamed by coach (Peggy) Regan for giving me food poisoning. I'm convinced it was a 24 hour bug since my boyfriend didn't get sick. Good Times. Rest In Peace Mr. Regan. Thanks for being an awesome teacher. - Cindy (Gough) Vincent

“ I got to know Tom very well while I served on the cemetery board. Tom was a great Sexton for the cemetery for about 38 years, a position which he served for all those years, with very little compensation.

Tom was much more than the cemetery sexton. He was the Village historian and his knowledge will be greatly missed.

Most of all, Tom was a great individual, who always had time for anyone who had a question about the cemetery or any historical event.

Tom was the penultimate citizen of the Village of Lexington. He gave a lot and asked for nothing in return.

We will miss you Tom.
